

Meet up with the boys at a big field. AZA and BBG will separately be holding hands in long chains while singing Im Tirtzu really loudly!

Everyone hold hands and get into one big circle

Natanya Reads:

Im Tirtzu, Ein Zo Agada. If you will it, it is no dream.

We are one Impact community. We are one family of 92 teens gathered together with a greater purpose. We have worked with the developmentally disabled, begged on the street, farmed, cleaned playgrounds, and interacted with homeless children. We have been witnesses to amazing miracles and hardships of daily life around Boston.

But these experiences are just the foundation. We are here to take the first steps in enacting change in our own communities, from California to Turkey to Texas to Massachusetts.

After tomorrow night, we will no longer be physically united. We will go home to our own communities with the knowledge and ideas we have gained at Impact.

As after every summer program, some of us will go our separate ways. We will get involved in school or BBYO or anything else in our home towns. Many of us will stay in touch with best friends whom we have spent the last 12 days getting to know.

But realize that this isn't just an ordinary summer program. Leaving here on Sunday morning is not just a depressing end to 12 amazing and inspirational days at Brandeis.

This is just the beginning. Now is the time to go home and accomplish great things.

But remember, great success is achieved over time, not overnight. Take small steps to accomplish your goals and to make even your biggest dreams a reality

Jake reads:

You guys have these amazing dreams. Dreams that can change your communities, our country, Israel, and the rest of the world. We spoke about Theodor Herzl and his dream of creating a Jewish homeland. Herzl aspired to make this dream become reality and you can too. With hard work, perseverance, and some help from your peers, WE ALL CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE! We hope tonight has inspired you guys. Some of your dreams may seem far-fetched, unattainable, and complex , but none of them are impossible. Natanya and I both know that each of you have the potential to change the world and we will be there to help you every step of the way. We would now like everyone to lay down and stay lined up in this giant circle.

We would like you guys to think about these past ten days. What have you accomplished?

Natanya: Think about your friends. How will you guys help each other throughout the year?

Jake: Now, think about your dreams. Look up at the stars. Please take this time to take in all that we have said tonight and just use this time to think.

Natanya: Think about how You are going to make a difference and change the world.
